

Participant Terms and Conditions

ARIORON THINK 2026 — Participant Terms

These terms apply to every participant in ARIORON THINK 2026 (the “Competition”), organised by Arioron. A participant accepts these terms by completing registration. For a team, the team leader accepts them on behalf of the team, and every team member is bound by them.

1. ELIGIBILITY

- The Competition is open only to students in Bangladesh.
- Arioron may ask for proof of student status and may cancel any registration that does not meet this requirement.

2. REGISTRATION

- Each participant registers once, choosing either the individual option or the team option.
- A registration is complete only when the payment has been verified and the confirmation message has been sent.
- Registration closes on 12 December 2026. Registrations are not accepted after this date.

3. TEAMS

- A team may have up to four members.
- The team leader creates the team or joins one, enters the team name, and enters the details of each member.
- The team leader confirms that every member has agreed to be registered, and is responsible for the accuracy of their details.
- Members can change only through the team change process that Arioron announces, and only before the cut-off date set for team changes.

4. CAMPUS AMBASSADOR REFERRALS

- The Campus Ambassador name must be entered on the registration form for the referral to be credited.
- Arioron decides referral credit from the registration data, and its records are final.

5. THE COMPETITION

- The Competition is fully online and is conducted in English.

- Each discipline has its own rules, which Arioron publishes before the Competition. Where a discipline's rules apply to a matter, they take precedence over these terms for that matter.
- Some disciplines restrict the use of AI tools. Participants must follow the rules for each discipline. Breaking them is treated as misconduct.
- Arioron may change the schedule or the rules with reasonable notice. Participants will be told through the official channels.

6. CONDUCT

- Participants must act honestly and respectfully at all times.
- The following are prohibited: cheating, collusion between teams, impersonation, plagiarism, harassment, and sharing unpublished challenge material before it is released.
- Arioron may disqualify a participant or team that breaks these terms, after reviewing the matter.

7. SUBMISSIONS AND INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

- Buildathon projects are submitted through Devpost. Each team owns its work.
- By submitting, a team allows Arioron to show the project in the Competition and in its promotion, with the team's name credited.

8. RESULTS AND AWARDS

- Results are decided by the judges and the organising team. Their decisions are final.
- Awards may include crests, certificates and potential internship opportunities, and further awards will be announced. No prize or award is promised until it is officially announced.

9. PHOTOGRAPHY AND RECORDING

- Sessions may be recorded or photographed, and the material may be used to promote the Competition.
- A participant who does not want to appear must tell Arioron in writing before the event.

10. CHANGES, CANCELLATION AND LIABILITY

- If the Competition is cancelled, the refund rules in the Refund and Payment Policy apply.
- Arioron is not responsible for internet or device failures outside its control, but will provide reasonable support to affected participants.

11. PRIVACY, CONTACT AND GOVERNING LAW

- Personal data is handled as set out in the Privacy Policy.

Refund and Payment Policy

ARIORON THINK 2026 — Refund and Payment Policy

This policy explains how registration fees are paid, when they are refunded, and what happens when something goes wrong. It applies to all individual and team registrations.

1. FEES

- Fees depend on the registration period (early bird, regular or late bird) and on the registration type (individual or team).
- The current fees are published on think.arioron.com. A registration is charged the fee in force on the date its payment is made.
- A team of four pays for three members. The fourth member is free.

2. HOW TO PAY

- All payments are made through bKash Send Money to the official Arioron number published on think.arioron.com.
- The payer must enter the bKash transaction ID on the registration form.
- Arioron will never ask for a PIN, OTP or password. Campus Ambassadors and partners never collect payments, and no payment should be made to a personal number on their behalf.

3. CONFIRMATION

- Arioron checks each transaction ID against the payment record. A registration is confirmed once the payment is verified and the confirmation message has been sent.
- Verification normally takes one working day. Participants who have not received a confirmation after two working days should contact inquiry@arioron.com with their transaction ID.

4. NON-REFUNDABLE FEES

- Registration fees are non-refundable once a registration is confirmed, because a place is reserved for each participant.
- Removing a member from a team after payment does not reduce the team fee.

5. WHEN A REFUND IS GIVEN

- A duplicate payment for the same registration is refunded in full.
- A payment is refunded in full if it was made but no registration was created because of an error on Arioron's side.

- If the Competition is cancelled, all confirmed registrations are refunded in full.
- Refunds are sent to the bKash number that made the payment, within 14 working days of Arioron approving the request.

6. INCORRECT AMOUNTS

- If a payment is less than the required fee, the registration is held until the balance is paid, before the registration deadline.
- If a payment is more than the required fee, the difference is refunded in the same way as in section 5.

7. CHANGES TO REGISTRATION DETAILS

- Corrections to name, email or institution may be requested through inquiry@arioron.com before the registration deadline.
- A place cannot be transferred to another person outside the team change process.

8. REQUESTING A REFUND OR RAISING A DISPUTE

- Send the transaction ID, registration name and reason to inquiry@arioron.com within seven days of the payment or the problem.
- Arioron will respond in writing and will give its decision with the reasons.

9. CHANGES TO FEES

- Fee changes are published on think.arioron.com. A confirmed registration keeps the fee it was charged.
